Architectural Scavenger Hunt

1

"1901 was the long-ago year,
When Morgan Hardware
started here.
Now a pretty balcony hangs
over my door,
And numbers are crunched
on my first floor."

2

"Around goes the brick circle
on my front side,
On a lovely building known as old McBryde.
The stores below are an
unlikely combo,
Books on rye with a splash of creamy mayo."

3

"I tell the story of our town's history,
Plain and simple, not a mystery,
A firetruck used to sit behind the door,
Beside the windows you are looking for."

4

"If you are smart as can be,
And can count, one, two, three Then look up and see me standing tall,
The tallest building of them all."

5

"An iron gate guards my wooden door,
Blocking entrance to the second floor.
The steps behind you cannot see,
But tenants above may have a key."

"A word like North, South, East or West Could describe me all the best. I am a church, not a store,
But a bank I was before."

7

"A trio of black lions just hanging out.
The strangest sight for downtown, no doubt.
A long time here, not in a zoo.
Come to East Church and hang out too."

8

"Cars travel one-way by my Marble Street door, Folks walk by on the sidewalk by the score.
Inside the sounds are often - "snip,
snip, snip",
And in the wash bowl, heads take a shampoo dip."

"The train runs on the tracks by my side,
I could not take a nap, even if I tried.
My outside walls are colored gray,
I'm very old, some might say."

May is Historic Preservation Month and the Rockmart History Museum is excited to offer an Architectural Scavenger Hunt.

The scavenger hunt will take place in Historic Downtown Rockmart.

Stroll through downtown and look up, down, and around at the architectural treasures that so richly contribute to the defining character of our city.

Participants are to complete this form and return to the Rockmart History Museum entry box by May 31st

Correctly completed entries will be entered into a drawing for the Grand Prize
